WHAT IS A CYSTOGRAM?

During the Cystogram exam, your bladder will be visualized through a catheter. A radiopaque dye (x-ray contrast) is injected through the catheter to outline the bladder. Several images will be taken while the catheter is in place. If you do not have a catheter in place, one will be placed by a Radiologist. The exam will take about 45 minutes.

You will remain in the x-ray room until the radiologist checks all the images taken.

At the end of the exam, your bladder will be drained.

SPECIAL INSTRUCTIONS:

• If you are pregnant (or think you may be pregnant), or if you are nursing a baby, please inform the radiology staff.

• Please notify the technologist if you have any allergies to medicines.

• Please notify the technologist if you have asthma or if you are allergic to iodine or any shellfish.

• On the day of your exam, please bring with you a list of the medications you are presently taking.
